GPC hosts first of community forums for the Western Basin Dredging and Disposal Project

As part of the range of community update events Gladstone Ports Corporation (GPC) regularly meet with members of the public to provide information about the Western Basin Dredging and Disposal Project.

On Saturday 3 December GPC will have an information stand at Kin Kora mall throughout the day.

CEO Leo Zussino and members of the project team will be on hand to speak with shoppers and answer any and all questions they may have.

“I’m looking forward to hearing from residents and letting them know about the progress we are making on the dredging project and answer their questions,” Mr Zussino said.

On the evening of 7 December, GPC are hosting a BBQ update for the community about the dredging project at CQ University.

CEO Leo Zussino and the project team will once again be on hand from 5pm-7pm to talk to members of the community about the vision GPC has for a 21st Century Gladstone.

“Friends and family are welcome to come along to ask about the changes in Gladstone harbour, Mr Zussino said.

There will be food and drinks for everyone to enjoy while they get to ask the tough questions they want answers to about the project.

“Some of the team working on the dredging and disposal project will be there to chat about the environmental standards, the water quality monitoring programme, the construction of the reclamation area and any other questions about dredging operations.”

“If you don’t have time to come along on the 3rd or 7th December, GPC will be holding more community updates in 2012 and people can also go online to find out more on the www.westernbasinportdevelopment.com.au website.”
